AND STILL THEY COME

The Main Body Would Not Contain the People.

AN ADDRESS FULL OF PATHOS

The Main Body Was Packed to Its Full Extent, and Then the Gallery Was Thrown Open—The Evangelist Acknowledges
That God Alone Can Be Depended
Upon for the Saving of Sin-Hardened Souls.

It was resolved last night not to throw open the gallery at the rink, as it was believed that the main body, by systematic packing, could be made to accommodate the people. This was found a fallacy at 7:40, every seat on the lower floor being occupied, and the overflow was assigned to the upper seats in the synagogue. Song service held away for some minutes, and then Rev. J. M. Huston, pastor of the First M. E. church, who has just returned from a trip to the land of gold, lead in prayer, after which Rev. J. C. Taggart read the scripture lesson, the story of the prodigal son. J. C. Greene, pastor of the Second U. P. church, East End, asked God's blessing on the assembly. Weeden sang by request: "My Mother's Prayer." This replete with pathos, and was listened to with earnest attention by the vast audience. Rev. Lee lead in prayer.

Preparatory to commencing his sermon of last night, Schiverea related the incident of a notorious thief and pickpocket, who had entered one of the meetings with the intention of robbing a lady of a gold watch and chain, and as he seated himself close to her, intent upon his wicked purpose, the spirit of God came upon him with powerful conviction, and he became a consistent Christian.

"The eleventh verse and thirty-third chapter of Ezekiel: 'As I live, saith the Lord God, I will have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live; turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?' Men, God has no pleasure in the losing of a soul, but wants that soul to come to him and inherit eternal life. God can't understand why men will refuse happiness, reject him and desire to remain in sin. If he had not loved you with an infinite love, men, he would not have caused these blessed words to be given unto you—no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His apostles were ordered to preach them, and his preachers have been announcing them ever since. Whosoever will can be and will be saved. Men have said to me: 'Watch out, Schiverea, you will run up against predestination and foreordination and get knocked out.' Why, men, I believe firmly in the 'selected,' and they are the 'whosoever will'; the other fellows are the 'whosoever will not.' When you become one of the selected, you will see to it that the Bible is read in your public schools. You will hasten to take your places for that purpose, and I bid you God speed; run, run, run. Those who have been selected will stand staunchly by the word of God all the way through. Men, you have been elected or selected, as the case may be; your election to God's mercy is an absolute certainty; the only question is whether or not, having been elected, you will take your seat. The candidate who is elected by the people would never become an office holder unless he did his part in taking the seat to which he had been elected. Just so is it in spiritual matters. You must accept that which God, in his mercy, freely offers you.

"God gives unto us his word, in the shape of the blessed Bible, to guide us to heaven and to show us how our souls may be saved. If we lose the Bible, then we lose the only guide and mainstay we have. The open Bible is the hope and mainstay of our free American institutions. It furnishes indisputable evidence that the Lord wants to save our souls. It is the dear old Bible of our mother; the book upon which she pillowed her head just before her soul took its flight to heaven.

"A prominent, great-brained man lay dying and said to his servant: 'Bring me the book.' The servant made response: 'What book?' Quick came the response: 'The book of books—the precious Bible!' Then said the servant: 'Oh, you want the book which teaches men how to die.' 'No!' said the dying saint; 'the book which teaches men how to live, praise God!'

"That's it, men, that's it; the blessed book which teaches men and women how to live, and then they need not be concerned about how they shall die, as our Christ will attend to the death and the resurrection and the glories of heaven, for the man, or the woman or child who has lived right. Hold on to the sheet anchor, our blessed Bible, and you can know just how to live for Jesus. God bless those who keep this blessed word of God open to our children.

"What does this great mass of people assembled here tonight mean? What mean the great crowds which have assembled here for weeks past? It means that the power of our God is in East Liverpool. It means that men and women are alive to the interests of their immortal, never-dying souls. It means that the Lord takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked. It means that God is eager to save your souls.

"A gentleman said to Bob Ingersoll: 'Say, Ingersoll, why don't you take your wife and family into the jungles of Africa, and get away from Christian influences and the God of Moses' Bible?' Ingersoll gazed at him a moment, and replied: 'Do you think I am an ardent fool?' Oh, no, my dear fellow, I much prefer living in a land of church influences.'

"You might have been in the saloon tonight, in the theater, in the dance hall, in the gaming hell, in the brothel or in some other vile place, had it not been for the mercy and love of Jesus. Why do you not accept the God of your father, of your mother, the God of Daniel, of Isaac and of Jacob? Night after night there are men and women assembling here, and they say, by their actions, that they prefer a life of sin and of shame to a life of purity and truth, and they deliberately tell God not to interfere with them, and that they will not listen to his pleadings. Isn't such a thing horrible, men? And yet that is just what men and women are doing here in East Liverpool, day after day, and night after night.

"I have been told about the suffering you had here in East Liverpool during the long strike. It was awful, men, awful; and yet do you know that if God were to withhold his merciful hand, rich with blessings, for the term of but six months, millions of lives would be lost? God gives everything to man—ability, strength, intellect, the necessities of life, food, clothing, crops, business prosperity and everything in the way of blessedness, and yet you refuse to bow the knee to him and ask that he shall pardon you. You will accept all his blessings, but will not acknowledge him as your God and serve him. It is wrong, it is inconsistent, it is unfair, it is unmanly on your part.

"You are building additions to your industries in this city, and the evidences of incoming prosperity are grand, under the mercy of God. If God gave us justice, untempered with mercy, they would be compelled to build additions to hell, as the infernal dominions would be full to overflowing.

"How easy God makes the pathway if you will but accept his proffers of mercy. 'The wayfarer man, though a fool, shall not err therein.'

"We are in deadly sickness—in awful need, and God supplies the remedy. All we have to do is to reach out our hands and take the remedy; that settles it, that settles it.

"An old German lady, poor and distressed, and in trouble, took Jesus as her own, and after the blessing came she continued to cry out: 'Oh, halnt he nice; oh, halnt he nice?' She kept repeating this until her dying hour, and when she was asked why she made constant use of the expression, said: 'Oh, halnt he nice, because he saved my soul from sin.'

"Here, my friend, (addressing a fine-looking middle-aged man in the audience) does God save you, and keep you and help you, and take away the appetite for drink? The gentleman responded that God saved him and was very good to him, and then Schiverea invited him forward, and they shook hands over the matter.

"A dear mother on her death bed had a telegram sent to her son, who was an infidel and who was absent from his home. The son came home at once and entered the room where his loving mother lay dying. The dear lady called Mary and Jamie and Willie to her side and asked that God should comfort and bless them. Then Charlie, the infidel, came and took his dear mother's hand and he noted that she gave him no such words as she had given unto the other children, and he cried out: 'Mother, darling, am I not to have your blessing?' And then the poor, loving, sad-hearted mother said: 'Oh, my darling boy, how I wish I could leave God's blessing with you. You are my oldest boy, and I love you very dearly; but, my darling, you have refused God's mercy; you do not believe in Jesus, the Savior of the world; you have spurned his loving offers; you have refused your mother's God. Goodbye, my darling, goodbye; your mother will soon be safe with Jesus.'

"Men, that infidel son cried out in agony, all broken and contrite, as he grasped that dying mother's hands: 'Oh mother, darling I will accept Jesus; yes, dear mother, I will accept your God and throw away my infidelity; oh, for God's sake, mother, dear mother, give me your blessing.' Men, it was too late; the soul of that darling mother had gone to glory.

"Oh, young men of East Liverpool, are you breaking the hearts of dear mothers who love you only second to the salvation of their immortal souls? You'll remember this when you look upon the face of that dear mother as she lies quietly in her coffin. For God's sake, and the sake of your future salvation, be careful what you are doing.

"Oh, men, when I look in your faces and find out how careless you are, I feel utterly crushed, utterly crushed, and despondent. I feel like crying out: 'My God, my God, come to the rescue, come to the rescue: save these souls, Master, save these never-dying souls. Oh, our Savior, our Redeemer, thine is the power; thy power alone can break these stony hearts. Save them, Lord, save them from the consequences of their indifference. Open up the way, dear Master, for Christ's sake, and save these men and women of East Liverpool from everlasting destruction.'

CHILDREN'S SERVICE.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon there was a grand gathering of children at the rink. Schiverea was on hand to talk to them, while the choir rendered appropriate selections and Weeden made melody for the youngsters.

HE WAS MARKED.

A Young Man the Victim of a Practical Joke.

A certain well known member of a social club of this city was the victim of a practical joke last night. The young man is quite a politician, or at least thinks he is. He was resting in the club room when he was called to the telephone in a nearby store, presumably to talk to a man in the northern end of the county. He was informed that the people of the county wanted an affidavit from his club that they were with the right man, as the word had gone out that they were supporting someone else, and that the home candidate had already lost 200 votes by the operation. The gentleman told him that his son had gone to school at Oberlin and that he knew the club member well. The young man got wildly excited and started out to hunt some of the other members. He finally found some of them and then went to the telephone and began to talk to the same man again. They were informed that they had better go to a lawyer's office and make out the affidavit. When they arrived at the office the young man was sent out to hunt up a justice of the peace and the rest of the people went home, as the telephoning had all been done from this city. Now the young man swears that he will never believe in the telephone again.

LISBON NEWS.

A Suit Filed in Court This Morning.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, March 28.—Christian McGilvray filed a suit in court this morning to recover a judgment for her share in the late Eliza J. McIntosh's estate, of Wayne township. Deceased was the widow of the late John McIntosh, and through the final settlement of her estate in probate court last May, the sum of $8,671 was ordered distributed among the heirs. The plaintiff is the niece of John McIntosh and states that this money was received by his widow from his estate and the claim is made that it should return to his heirs. This manner of distribution would entitle her to one-tenth interest in the money, which William Johnson, the administrator, has refused to pay.

The probate court gave to F. W. George letters of administration in the estate of the late George E. Gotschall. Bond $2,000.

A marriage license was granted to William T. Ferguson and Miss Jennie Jones, both of East Liverpool.

THE ASSOCIATION.

The Gymnasium Classes Are on the Increase.

The gymnasium classes at the Young Men's Christian association are constantly increasing and improving under the able leadership of Director Morris. The delarte classes are also on the increase and Director Morris now has his hands full to attend to the work that he has to do. The senior and junior classes are progressing very rapidly, and the class in Indian clubs are now able to execute many intricate and difficult moves with the greatest of dexterity. It is probable that a baseball club will be organized, and the association will also be represented by a basket ball team this year. The boys will begin outdoor practice as soon as the weather opens sufficiently.

HER MOTHER OBJECTS.

But the Young Man Still Courts the Daughter.

A young daughter who lives at the lower end of Fourth street is thought a great deal of by a young man who lives in the West End and reciprocates the feeling, but the mother has not the same opinion of the young man, and recently forbid him the house and told her daughter to have nothing to do with him. But as the old saying goes, "Love laughs at obstacles," and they would meet almost every night. The mother finally became suspicious and followed her daughter and saw her meet the young man, and a scene ensued. The young man was lectured in good shape, while the girl was sent home. The young couple declare they will meet in spite of all the mother can do to prevent it.

AN ENTERTAINMENT

That Would do Credit to Any Organization.

There is much rivalry between the various classes of the high school as to which can get up the best literary entertainment. Up to yesterday the junior class held the laurels, but the freshmen had determined to beat them, and accordingly treated an audience of over 50 people to the finest entertainment ever witnessed in the high school room. The other classes declare that they will yet beat the class of '99, but the freshmen are very confident and say that when that time comes they will get up an entertainment that will throw the one of yesterday completely in the shade, and turn the juniors green with envy.

FOR CLEVELAND.

The River football team left last night for Cleveland, where they will do battle with the West Side Athletic team of that city. The Rovers defeated this club here last fall and are confident of again winning. The team will line up as follows: M. Adams, G. Eardley, A. Shaw, W. Beach and Jones, forwards; C. Beach, W. Corns and C. Harrison, left backs; W. Pope and E. Ferrell, full backs; J. Stanway, goalkeeper. The team left in a special car and were accompanied by E. Simpson, E. Eardley and George Crow. They will return home on the 5 o'clock train Monday morning.

DISCORD AND CONTENTION

Between Candidates on the Democratic and Labor Tickets.

A candidate for an office on the labor ticket endeavored to make a deal with the untitled that they would not oppose his candidacy by putting up a man for the same office on their ticket. Although no expressed contract was made by these two parties, it was generally understood that this request would be acquiesced in.

Later the untitled reconsidered their intentions and concluded to nominate a man for that office. Now the labor candidate waxes indignant over the alleged injustice that has been done him and vows that the opposite party broke faith with him.

THE HORSE RAN AWAY

While the Driver Was In the Glass House.

When John Wetz, the driver for the Adams Express company, came out of the Specialty glass works yesterday, he saw that the horse that he had left standing quietly on the road was fleeing at a break neck pace in the distance. Just at this moment the mad animal stumbled and fell, and the horse and wagon went pell mell over a steep bank at that point in the road. The wagon was slightly damaged, but the horse escaped practically uninjured. This display of fractiousness by the heretofore docile animal was a complete surprise to the driver.

The Pipe Bursted.

Reverend Dempster and wife left home the other day, and during their absence the water pipe bursted. The door was broken open by neighbors and the water shut off. Sixteen bucketsfull were taken from the pantry, and the water was fully four inches deep in the cellar.

THE MIGHTY FALLEN

Humiliation Follows In the Footsteps of Despondency.

CLEAN DEMOCRACY IS DRIFTING

The Class Which Has Attempted to Rule or Ruin, Within the Democratic Ranks, Has Reached the Last Ditch—The Clean Democrats Will Not Follow Such Leadership—Desperate Attempt to Combine With the Prohibitionists.

Some two years ago a would-be leader of the Democratic party stated that the Prohibition party was becoming an important factor in East Liverpool politics. It was thought at the time that said would-be leader was simply throwing out a bait for future angling in Prohibition waters; but it is now demonstrated that he believed what he was asserting, as he has ever since, assisted by small fry associated with him, been endeavoring to effect a fusion with the cold water adherents. Since that time, the very same leader has confessed, in the presence of witnesses of unimpeachable character, that the Democratic party in this city, as controlled by himself, is about tired of putting up candidates, simply to be mortified and annoyed by having them incontinently bowled over, without even the ghost of a chance of victory or emoluments of office.

And so affairs have gone on, until said leader and his adherents have been rendered desperate indeed, and willing to do anything which would even suggest hopes of a single Democratic nominee winning a place among the officials or governing power of East Liverpool.

To the unbiased looker-on in Venice, it has indeed been amusing to note how the advocates of whisky straight have attempted to take water in the river of Prohibition, as it is a well known fact that the would-be leader and some of his most intimate followers have long since ceased to spoil their whisky with the influence of water, but have taken the intoxicant straight, while he and they are consistent advocates of the infamous traffic.

Never has there been spoken a greater truth than that "politics make strange bed-fellows," and this is fully exemplified in the attempt of the worst class of Democracy to fuse with the best class of Prohibitionists. There are a number of clean Democrats in town—quite a number of our best citizens; but they also refuse to fuse with the meaner element, as controlled by the would-be leaders, and have drifted into the ranks of the Republican or Prohibition party, in so far as local politics are concerned, and only vote their old time ticket in case of state or national issues coming on deck.

Lately, the would-be leader and his cohorts have been attempting to defeat F. E. Grosshans, and they have exhausted every effort, even to abject humiliation in the way of promises, in order to have the cold water party combine upon George A. Hason for city solicitor, this combination to also embrace other candidates, pro and con.

But, alas for the would-be leader and his minions, they have been incontinently turned down, with scant courtesy, and as the supposititious brains of the combine fully realizes the situation, in all its horrid nakedness, he boweth himself down in sackcloth and ashes, and vows that the day of his supremacy is disappearing in the dim distance. Surely the "handwriting upon the wall" has been very plain for some time past, and the only one who could not read the same is this would-be leader, who persistently shut his eyes to the real situation, and, blinded by egotism, staggered blindly to his doom, a pitiable sight, calling upon those diametrically and on principle opposed to him, to save him from the shame and disgrace of utter defeat. Interment on the 6th of April. Obsequies private.

A New Order.

The newsboys on the Pennsylvania company's lines have been notified that they will not be allowed to sell fruit, candy or anything else except reading matter. The conductors have been notified of the order, and are charged to put anyone caught violating the order off at the first station.

River Notes.

The river steadily continues to rise. The coal traffic has somewhat lessened, most of the tows being below. The Lorena passed down this morning and the Virginia is due down this evening.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE.

HE WAS MARKED.

A Young Man the Victim of a Practical Joke.

He was resting in the club room when he was called to the telephone in a nearby store, presumably to talk to a man in the northern end of the county. He was informed that the people of the county wanted an affidavit from his club that they were with the right man, as the word had gone out that they were supporting someone else, and that the home candidate had already lost 200 votes by the operation. The gentleman told him that his son had gone to school at Oberlin and that he knew the club member well. The young man got wildly excited and started out to hunt some of the other members. He finally found some of them and then went to the telephone and began to talk to the same man again. They were informed that they had better go to a lawyer's office and make out the affidavit. When they arrived at the office the young man was sent out to hunt up a justice of the peace and the rest of the people went home, as the telephoning had all been done from this city. Now the young man swears that he will never believe in the telephone again.

LISBON NEWS.

A suit filed in court this morning. Special to the News Review.

LISBON, March 28.—Christian McGilvray filed a suit in court this morning to recover a judgment for her share in the late Eliza J. McIntosh's estate, of Wayne township. Deceased was the widow of the late John McIntosh, and through the final settlement of her estate in probate court last May, the sum of $8,671 was ordered distributed among the heirs. The plaintiff is the niece of John McIntosh and states that this money was received by his widow from his estate and the claim is made that it should return to his heirs. This manner of distribution would entitle her to one-tenth interest in the money, which William Johnson, the administrator, has refused to pay.

The probate court gave to F. W. George letters of administration in the estate of the late George E. Gotschall. Bond $2,000.

A marriage license was granted to William T. Ferguson and Miss Jennie Jones, both of East Liverpool.

THE ASSOCIATION.

The Gymnasium Classes Are on the Increase.

The gymnasium classes at the Young Men's Christian association are constantly increasing and improving under the able leadership of Director Morris. The delisarte classes are also on the increase and Director Morris now has his hands full to attend to the work that he has to do. The senior and junior classes are progressing very rapidly, and the class in Indian clubs are now able to execute many intricate and difficult moves with the greatest of dexterity. It is probable that a baseball club will be organized, and the association will also be represented by a basket ball team this year. The boys will begin outdoor practice as soon as the weather opens sufficiently.

HER MOTHER OBJECTS.

But the Young Man Still Courts the Daughter.

A young daughter who lives at the lower end of Fourth street is thought a great deal of by a young man who lives in the West End and reciprocates the feeling, but the mother has not the same opinion of the young man, and recently forbid him the house and told her daughter to have nothing to do with him. But as the old saying goes, "Love laughs at obstacles," and they would meet almost every night. The mother finally became suspicious and followed her daughter and saw her meet the young man, and a scene ensued. The young man was lectured in good shape, while the girl was sent home. The young couple declare they will meet in spite of all the mother can do to prevent it.

AN ENTERTAINMENT

That Would do Credit to Any Organization.

There is much rivalry between the various classes of the high school as to which can get up the best literary entertainment. Up to yesterday the junior class held the laurels, but the freshmen had determined to beat them, and accordingly treated an audience of over 50 people to the finest entertainment ever witnessed in the high school room. The other classes declare that they will yet beat the class of '99, but the freshmen are very confident and say that when that time comes they will get up an entertainment that will throw the one of yesterday completely in the shade, and turn the juniors green with envy.

FOR CLEVELAND.

The River football team left last night for Cleveland, where they will do battle with the West Side Athletic team of that city. The Rovers defeated this club here last fall and are confident of again winning. The team will line up as follows: M. Adams, G. Eardley, A. Shaw, W. Beach and Jones, forwards; C. Beach, W. Corns and C. Harrison, left backs; W. Pope and E. Ferrell, full backs; J. Stanway, goalkeeper. The team left in a special car and were accompanied by E. Simpson, E. Eardley and George Crow. They will return home on the 5 o'clock train Monday morning.

DISCORD AND CONTENTION

Between Candidates on the Democratic and Labor Tickets.

A candidate for an office on the labor ticket endeavored to make a deal with the terrified that they would not oppose his candidacy by putting up a man for the same office on their ticket. Although no expressed contract was made by these two parties, it was generally understood that this request would be acquiesced in.

Later the terrified reconsidered their intentions and concluded to nominate a man for that office. Now the labor candidate waxes indignant over the alleged injustice that has been done him and vows that the opposite party broke faith with him.

THE HORSE RAN AWAY

While the Driver Was in the Glass House.

When John Wetz, the driver for the Adams Express company, came out of the Specialty glass works yesterday, he saw that the horse that he had left standing quietly on the road was fleeing at a break neck pace in the distance. Just at this moment the mad animal stumbled and fell, and the horse and wagon went pell mell over a steep bank at that point in the road. The wagon was slightly damaged, but the horse escaped practically uninjured. This display of "fractiousness by the heretofore docile animal was a complete surprise to the driver.

The Pipe Burst.

Reverend Dempster and wife left home the other day, and during their absence the water pipe burst. The door was broken open by neighbors and the water shut off. Sixteen bucketsfull were taken from the pantry, and the water was fully four inches deep in the cellar.

THE MIGHTY FALLEN

Humiliation Follows In the Footsteps of Despondency.

CLEAN DEMOCRACY IS DRIFTING

The Class Which Has Attempted to Rule or Rule, Within the Democratic Ranks, Has Reached the Last Ditch—The Clean Democrats Will Not Follow Such Leadership—Desperate Attempt to Combine With the Prohibitionists.

Some two years ago a would-be leader of the Democratic party stated that the Prohibition party was becoming an important factor in East Liverpool politics. It was thought at the time that said would-be leader was simply throwing out a bait for future angling in Prohibition waters; but it is now demonstrated that he believed what he was asserting, as he has ever since, assisted by small fry associated with him, been endeavoring to effect a fusion with the cold water adherents. Since that time, the very same leader has confessed, in the presence of witnesses of unimpeachable character, that the Democratic party in this city, as controlled by himself, is about tired of putting up candidates, simply to be mortified and annoyed by having them incontinently bowled over, without even the ghost of a chance of victory or emoluments of office.

And so affairs have gone on, until said leader and his adherents have been rendered desperate indeed, and willing to do anything which would even suggest hopes of a single Democratic nominee winning a place among the officials or governing power of East Liverpool.

To the unbiased looker-on in Venice, it has indeed been amusing to note how the advocates of whisky straight have attempted to take water in the river of Prohibition, as it is a well-known fact that the would-be leader and some of his most intimate followers have long since ceased to spoil their whisky with the influence of water, but have taken the intoxicant straight, while he and they are consistent advocates of the infamous traffic.

Never has there been spoken a greater truth than that "politics make strange bed-fellows," and this is fully exemplified in the attempt of the worst class of Democracy to fuse with the best class of Prohibitionists. There are a number of clean Democrats in town—quite a number of our best citizens; but they also refuse to fuse with the meaner element, as controlled by the would-be leaders, and have drifted into the ranks of the Republican or Prohibition party, in so far as local politics are concerned, and only vote their old time ticket in case of state or national issues coming on deck.

Lately, the would-be leader and his cohorts have been attempting to defeat F. E. Grosshans, and they have exhausted every effort, even to abject humiliation in the way of promises, in order to have the cold water party combine upon George A. Hasson for city solicitor, this combination to also embrace other candidates, pro and con.

But, alas for the would-be leader and his minions, they have been incontinently turned down, with scant courtesy, and as the supposititious brains of the combine fully realizes the situation, in all its horrid nakedness, he boweth himself down in sackcloth and ashes, and vows that the day of his supremacy is disappearing in the dim distance. Surely the "handwriting upon the wall" has been very plain for some time past, and the only one who could not read the same is this would-be leader, who persistently shut his eyes to the real situation, and, blinded by egotism, staggered blindly to his doom, a pitiable sight, calling upon those diametrically and on principle opposed to him, to save him from the shame and disgrace of utter defeat. Interment on the 6th of April. Obsequies private.

A New Order.

The newsboys on the Pennsylvania company's lines have been notified that they will not be allowed to sell fruit, candy or anything else except reading matter. The conductors have been notified of the order, and are charged to put anyone caught violating the order off at the first station.

River Notes.

The river steadily continues to rise. The coal traffic has somewhat lessened, most of the tows being below. The Lorena passed down this morning and the Virginia is due down this evening.

SALVATION ARMY.

The new Salvation Army received a royal send off at Pittsburgh last night, and money flowed into the coffers freely. The contributors in Pittsburgh state that they are tired of sending money to England, and intend to help the new organization, because it will be mainly devoted to ministering to those who sadly need it in this fair land. Our local organization is apparently standing firmly by the Elder Booth.

"HANDWRITING."

Yes, the "handwriting is on the wall," and he who runs may read. The communication in another column shows how despondent and desperate has become that faction of the Democratic party which does not take principle or manhood into consideration, and which has attempted to dominate local Democracy with a high hand, and which has finally disgusted Democrats of clean and pure lives, until they have drifted into the Republican or Prohibition ranks. Read the communication on our first page in reference to this matter.

THE PRIMARIES.

The candidates on the county ticket have been doing wonderfully earned work in East Liverpool, and they seem to recognize the fact that this will be a strong feature in placing the nomination. The fight on probate judge, clerk of courts and commissioner has been waged with intense earnestness. The outlook on the recorder issue is that Ed Crosser will win with hands down. We will tell you about the other offices later on. The News Review will bulletin all returns up to 11:30 tonight and give full particulars on Monday next.

HE SHOULD BE?

Why? Because he is a manly man, of good common sense, and he advocates the right, boldly and bravely. He is a well known business man, and his word is better than the bond of such creatures as attempt to write editorials for the Whiskey Advocate, published in retaliation. He was listening to a discussion on the Bible question, and a professing Christian, weak kneed and unstable, affected by every idle wind which blows, was in a quandary whether or not it would be a good thing for the Bible to be read at the opening of school each morning, by the teachers to the pupils. He listened attentively to the dishwasher emanations of the luke water professor for some time, and then broke in with: "See here, Jones; do you know that you make an honest, square man, very tired!" You're a professor of Christianity, and yet you do not know whether or not to advocate the reading of the Bible in the public schools. I've got no use for such fellows as you. I'm not a Christian and don't profess to be; but my father and mother were Christians, the sinner pure article, and they loved and lived the Bible. It's a grand old book, and is a safe book for my children to read, and they're going to have it read at school, every morning school convenes, if my ballot and influence can settle the question. You're a mighty poor specimen of a Christian, Jones, and I'd be sorry to know that you are a fair specimen of the kind we have in East Liverpool."

B. H. HODGSON.

B. H. Hodgson, the Republican candidate for school board from the Second ward, is a Christian gentleman and a man of good common sense, and he will do honor to the city of East Liverpool. He is city missionary for the First M. E. church, and has the respect and esteem of pastor and people. In the line of duty as missionary, he is called to all manner of places, respectable and vile, and he would not hesitate to do that duty, in attending to the wants of an immortal soul, even if the body containing that soul was to be found in the infamous Doby saloon, of such unenviable notoriety. The creatures who are assailing him, and who are connected with a journal of most unsavory reputation, come in his line, as there is still a remote possibility of saving them from the torments of eternal punishment, as the mercy of the Author of the Bible is unbounded and limitless.

WOMEN VOTERS.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This is an absolute truism. Oh, Christian women of East Liverpool: mothers who love their children, and who hope to see them happy in this world and given a sure passport to heaven, see to it that you cast your ballot for the reading of the Bible at the opening of school, each morning, by teachers to pupils. Don't let any one on earth tell you your duty. Ask God, and if you ask him aright, you will get your answer. Don't dare say that the polls are not a proper place for you to attend. God will not allow you to make such an excuse in the great day of judgment. Don't let husband, father, brother or friend keep you away from the polls on April 6, 1896. Vote for the Bible, and the God of the Bible will bless you. On this school question, wherever the women have voted, better order at the polls has been controlled, and clean men have been put in office. Vote for God and his word.

"Perhaps you would not think so, out a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Doctor Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

REED'S BOOM STARTED

Massachusetts Republicans Indorse His Candidacy.

SOLID DELEGATION SELECTED.

A Platform With Which Reed Is to Make His Campaign Adopted—General Felix Agnus of Baltimore Says the South Is For Reed.

BOSTON, March 28.—A larger or more enthusiastic body of prominent Republicans has seldom met at a state convention here than was gathered at Music hall to inaugurate Speaker Reed's candidacy for the presidential nomination and to elect four delegates-at-large and their alternates to attend the national convention at St. Louis in June.

Of 2,002 delegates entitled to a seat in the convention 1,851 were in attendance full of enthusiasm for Hon. Thomas B. Reed as candidate for president of the United States. Every delegate had in his buttonhole a Reed button, bearing a picture of the man with a background of the national colors, and every time the name of the Maine statesman was uttered cheers burst from the throats of the vast crowd that filled the convention hall.

The proceedings of the convention were harmonious in a marked degree and the program mapped out by the state committee was adopted with a single exception, that of the election of Dr. S. E. Courtney of Boston, a colored man, to be an alternate. He was nominated from the floor, by Morris C. Aller, a colored delegate from Boston. The speeches were listened to with marked attention, and every point seemed to receive its merited amount of applause or laughter. This was particularly the case while Chairman McCall and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge were delivering their addresses.

The platform pledges the electoral vote of Massachusetts to the candidate chosen at St. Louis; favors the restriction of immigration; opposes appropriation of public money to sectarian schools; advocates a firm foreign policy; expresses sympathy for Cuba, and declares the Monroe doctrine must be upheld. The tariff plank reads:

The government should have an ample revenue with a sufficient surplus over ordinary expenditures to provide for coast defenses, for the steady building up of the navy, and for the constant reduction of the public debt. The present tariff, with its low rates and its destructive system of undervaluations, should be replaced by one framed on protective principles, and arranged to give an ample protection to American wages and American industry and to restore the reciprocity policy of James G. Blaine.

The plank on the financial question is as follows:

We regard the silver agitation as hurtful to business and as destructive of confidence, and, as has recently been shown, hostile to all tariff legislation, designed to give protection to our industries and revenue in our treasury. We are entirely opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and to any change in the existing gold standard except by international agreement. Each dollar must be kept as good as every other dollar. The credit of the United States must be maintained at the highest point, so that it cannot be questioned anywhere, either at home or abroad. Every promise must be rigidly kept and every obligation redeemable in coin must be paid in gold. We are opposed to the unsound and dangerous system of state banks. We support the national banking system and believe it should be so amended as to give it room for expansion and opportunity to meet the demands of the growing business and population of the country.

The final plank reads:

Massachusetts Republicans have never undertaken to place or to hold their highest point, so that it cannot be questioned anywhere, either at home or abroad. Every promise must be rigidly kept and every obligation redeemable in coin must be paid in gold. We are opposed to the unsound and dangerous system of state banks. We support the national banking system and believe it should be so amended as to give it room for expansion and opportunity to meet the demands of the growing business and population of the country.

The following were elected delegates-at-large to the national convention: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Nahant; W. Murray Crane, Dalton; Eben S. Draper, Hopkedge, and Curtis Guild, Jr., Boston. They were chosen by acclamation.

The following were elected alternates: Louis C. Southard, Easton; Roland H. Boutwell, Boston; R. F. Hawkins, Springfield, and S. E. Courtney, Boston.

THE SOUTH FOR REED.

Baltimore American Comes Out For Him In Its Issue Today.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—The Baltimore American, of which General Felix Agnus is editor, in today's issue announces its advocacy of the nomination of Speaker Reed for the presidency. In its leading editorial, The American reverts to the Republican convention in Massachusetts and adds:

"The convention was the formal beginning of the Reed campaign. The sentiment in Maryland is for him without the shadow of a doubt, and when the time comes, the south will rise spontaneously to his name."

It also endorses the Massachusetts platform and says in conclusion: "On such a platform and with such a candidate the party would carry the country by a magnificent majority."

A recent poll of the Republicans in the Maryland legislature showed a considerable majority for Reed.

Minnesota Now Solid.

RUSHFORD, Minn., March 28.—The First district Republican convention elected delegates who are for McKinley, and the Minnesota delegate is now solid for the Ohio candidate. The resolutions are for McKinley and sound money.

A Hot Fight Expected.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 28.—Everything indicates that the Republican territorial convention at Oklahoma City today will be exciting from start to finish, both the Reed and McKinley factions claiming a majority.

A Leading Spiritualist Dead.

GREENFIELD, Mass., March 28.—D. Joseph Bee, a leading Spiritualist, has died, aged 75 years.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

No Important Change in General Condition of Business.

NEW YORK, March 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says: No important change has occurred in the general condition of business during the week and if trades in some respects look worse, in other respects, they look better. Some failures of magnitude have occurred, which have caused much apprehension and unwillingness to lend among bankers and there have been somewhat less favorable features in the drygoods market, but in iron and steel conditions are slightly improved and in boots and shoes considerably more hopeful.

The labor controversies, mainly in the clothing trade, still cause much interruption of that business. Foreign trade is a little more satisfactory, exports from New York for three weeks showing an increase over last year of 6 per cent, while imports have shown nearly the same rate of decrease, and there are not wanting signs that the domestic markets have been somewhat overloaded with many kinds of foreign goods. In general, the course of domestic prices tends to favor the marketing of staples abroad.

Wheat has gained also about a point, but corn and cotton remain unchanged. Receipts of wheat at western ports continue surprisingly large.

The sales of wool have fallen less than half a week's full consumption. A striking feature this week has been a sale of 350,000 pounds of American wool for shipment to England.

The iron and steel market have disclosed a similar feature, for a little Alabama pig has been sold for export by the Sloss company. The combination of lake ore producers has at last announced its prices for the coming season: $4.00 for first-class Bessemer, $3.30 to $3.75 for Mesabi, and $3.00 for non-Bessemer ore, and it is calculated that with coke at $2 per ton Bessemer pig can be produced at about $12.50 at Pittsburgh, which is now the current price there.

But the slow marketing of finished products is still the main trouble. There has been a little more activity this week and the Carnegie works have sold 10,000 steel rails to Japan, thus securing a noteworthy success, but in the main the market is as inactive and insufficient as it has been.

A heavy failure in Texas will also swell the aggregate.

The failures for the week have been 259 in the United States, against 234 last year, and 39 in Canada, against 42 last year.

Pearl Bryan's Body Buried.

GREEN CASTLE, Ind., March 28.—The burial of the body of Pearl Bryan has occurred in Forest Hill cemetery. For weeks, in fact ever since the facts in the tragedy were brought out and the finding and identification of the body with the head missing, the family have hoped the head might be found. The funeral was simple.

Probably the Auctioned Body.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The body in the box sold at auction here is believed to be that of Joanes Prosper Chazal, who disappeared from Salt Lake City in February 1893. Chazal lived with a woman named Miss Roland, on Franklin avenue, Salt Lake City, up to February, 1893.

Italians to Be Sent Back.

NEW YORK, March 28.—At least 400 of the 2,000 Italian immigrants who were landed on Ellis island on Sunday and Monday, will be deported, as they have not the means to subsist upon for 30 days. The law requires each immigrant to have at least $30 or to have some relative in America before he is admitted.

Kansas Favors Women.

WICHITA, Kan., March 28.—The Southwest Kansas Methodist Episcopal conference has adopted the Baltimore-Columbia proposition, favoring the admission of women to the general conference—yeas, 84; nays, 8. On the Hamilton amendment 59 delegates refused to vote, and 30 voted against it.

Baron Fava's Son Dead.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Francis R. Fava, son of the Italian ambassador and professor of civil engineering at the Columbian university, has died here from consumption, aged 35 years. He had renounced claim to his father's title of baron and became a citizen of the United States.

A Murderer Escapes From Jail.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 28.—Ex-Alderman McGrath, convicted of the murder of James Rushing and given nine years in the pen, has escaped from the county jail. The escape, it is said, was due to carelessness of the jailor, who has been removed by the sheriff.

Will Meet In Cleveland.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28.—By direction of the officials of the Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias the arrangements to hold the national encampment in Minneapolis have been declared off and Cleveland has been selected as the place for the coming event.

Political Fusion In Texas.

AUSTIN, March 28.—A report is current here that the leaders of the Republican and Populists have a scheme to fuse, the Republicans to vote for the Populist nominee for state officers and the Populists to put Republican electors on their ballots.

England Paid Egyptian Money.

CAIRO, March 28.—The Egyptian debt commission paid the first instalment from the reserve fund, amounting to £200,000 ($1,000,000) of the money required for the expenses of the British-Egyptian expedition up the Nile.

A Wealthy Man Poisoned.

PERRY, O. T., March 28.—Captain W. H. Williams, a wealthy ex-Kansan, has died suddenly here and physicians who attended him state that he was doubtless poisoned. Robbery is supposed to have been the motive.

FOMENTED BY THE BOERS.

Accused of Causing the Matabele Uprising—Many Whites Killed.

CAPETOWN, March 28.—There are the wildest rumors at Johannesburg that the Boers have fomented the Matabele uprising. Dispatches received from Bulawayo, Matabeleland, indicate that the uprising in that part of the colony is very serious.

An extensive uprising of the natives, it is understood, has taken place, and the revolt may spread to other parts of South Africa. The settlers in Matabeleland are flocking into the towns, which are being placed in a condition for defense. Volunteers are being enrolled everywhere, provisions are being collected, and in short, all the steps necessary are being taken to meet most serious developments.

Reinforcements of mounted police have already been sent to Bulawayo, Inzerre and Gumbo and the Cape Rifles have received orders to prepare for active service. Supplies of ammunition for the Maxim guns are being hurried to Bulawayo, and all the horses of the disturbed territory have been corralled by Colonel Napier, who is in charge of the government forces. The natives are raiding farms and killing white settlers in the Matopo hills district, and rumor has it that over 50 people have been slain.

COLD SHOULDER FOR SPAIN.

Europe Won't Help In Her Trouble With the United States.

MADRID, March 28.—It has leaked out in diplomatic circles here that the Spanish foreign office has been informed by its ambassadors in the principal European courts that Spain is not likely to receive more than platonic sympathy even from the French government in a conflict with the United States. The Spanish representatives in all the European courts have discovered that it is absolutely absurd to hope that any European government would act in concert to support Spain even by friendly mediation or moral influence.

They have also discovered that the whole foreign governments and the whole European public wonder why Spain does not immediately give Cuba and Porto Rico colonial autonomy and self-government, such as England has given to Canada, in order to disarm the secessionists in Cuba and to conciliate American sympathies.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Standard says: Public feeling is running so high against American interference in Cuba that the government will have trouble to control the national anger. The Republicans declare that they will abstain from the general election with a view of washing their hands of responsibility.

CLEVELAND WILL REFUSE.

Paper Now Ready Declaring His Position.

BOSTON, March 28.—Congressman A. S. Berry of Kentucky, who is a member of the congressional delegation which is inspecting Boston harbor, said: "I can say very positively that President Cleveland is not in the race at all. I have good reason to know that when the time comes he will announce that fact to the public."

"In fact a paper of such nature was prepared by him some time ago, but at the request of the national committee, who felt that that was not the most opportune time for it to be given out, he consented to withhold it for a time."

How Crockett Lived.

S. R. Crockett, the Scotch writer, has been telling how he used to raise the heat when a hard up student in Edinburgh. He lodged with a friend over in the evening and picked up the coals which the carts had dropped in the streets. "Sometimes," he says, "I grew so bold as to chuck a lump of coal at a driver, who invariably looked for the biggest lump on his load to hit back with, which was what I wanted. Thus the exercise warmed me at the time and the coal warmed me afterward. And occasionally I got a large enough stock to sell to our companions, and buy a book or two. But I wish, here and now, solemnly to state that I never, never, condescended to lift a lump off a cart, at least hardly—well, unless it was manifestly inconveniencing the safety of the load or overburdening the safety of the horse, you know!"

SALVATION ARMY.

The new Salvation Army received a royal send off at Pittsburgh last night, and money flowed into the coffers freely. The contributors in Pittsburgh state that they are tired of sending money to England, and intend to help the new organization, because it will be mainly devoted to ministering to those who sadly need it in this fair land. Our local organization is apparently standing firmly by the Elder Booth.

"HANDWRITING."

Yes, the "handwriting is on the wall," and he who runs may read. The communication in another column shows how despondent and desperate has become that faction of the Democratic party which does not take principle or manhood into consideration, and which has attempted to dominate local Democracy with a high hand, and which has finally disgusted Democrats of clean and pure lives, until they have drifted into the Republican or Prohibition ranks. Read the communication on our first page in reference to this matter.

THE PRIMARIES.

The candidates on the county ticket have been doing wonderfully earnest work in East Liverpool, and they seem to recognize the fact that this city will be a strong feature in placing the nomination. The fight on probate judge, clerk of courts and commissioner has been waged with intense earnestness. The outlook on the recorder issue is that Ed Crosser will win with hands down. We will tell you about the other offices later on. The News Review will bulletin all returns up to 11:30 tonight and give full particulars on Monday next.

HE SHOULD BE?

Why? Because he is a manly man, of good common sense, and he advocates the right, boldly and bravely. He is a well known business man, and his word is better than the bond of such creatures as attempt to write editorials for the Whiskey Advocate, published in rat alley. He was listening to a discussion on the Bible question, and a professing Christian, weak kneed and unstable, affected by every idle wind which blows, was in a quandary whether or not it would be a good thing for the Bible to be read at the opening of school each morning, by the teachers to the pupils. He listened attentively to the dishwasher emanations of the luke water professor for some time, and then broke in with: "See here, Jones; do you know that you make an honest, square man, very tired?" You're a professor of Christianity, and yet you do not know whether or not to advocate the reading of the Bible in the public schools, I've got no use for such fellows as you. I'm not a Christian and don't profess to be; but my father and mother were Christians, the simon pure article, and they loved and lived the Bible. It's a grand old book, and is a safe book for my children to read, and they're going to have it read at school, every morning school convenes, if my ballot and influence can settle the question. You're a mighty poor specimen of a Christian, Jones, and I'd be sorry to know that you are a fair specimen of the kind we have in East Liverpool."

B. H. HODGSON.

B. H. Hodgson, the Republican candidate for school board from the Second ward, is a Christian gentleman and a man of good common sense, and he will do honor to the city of East Liverpool. He is city missionary for the First M. E. church, and has the respect and esteem of pastor and people. In the line of duty as missionary, he is called to all manner of places, respectable and vile, and he would not hesitate to do that duty, in attending to the wants of an immortal soul, even if the body containing that soul was to be found in the infamous Duby saloon, of such unenviable notoriety. The creatures who are assailing him, and who are connected with a journal of most unsavory reputation, come in his line, as there is still a remote possibility of saving them from the torments of eternal punishment, as the mercy of the Author of the Bible is unbounded and limitless.

WOMEN VOTERS.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This is an absolute truism. Oh, Christian women of East Liverpool; mothers who love their children, and who hope to see them happy in this world and given a sure passport to heaven, see to it that you cast your ballot for the reading of the Bible at the opening of school, each morning, by teachers to pupils. Don't let any one on earth tell you your duty. Ask God, and if you ask him aright, you will get your answer. Don't dare say that the polls are not a proper place for you to attend. God will not allow you to make such an excuse in the great day of judgment. Don't let husband, father, brother or friend keep you away from the polls on April 6, 1896. Vote for the Bible, and the God of the Bible will bless you. On this school question, wherever the women have voted, better order at the polls has controlled, and clean men have been put in office. Vote for God and his word.

"Perhaps you would not think so, out a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Doctor Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. REED'S BOOM STARTED

Massachusetts Republicans Indorse His Candidacy.

SOLID DELEGATION SELECTED.

A Platform With Which Reed is to Make His Campaign Adopted—General Felix Agnus of Baltimore Says the South is For Reed.

BOSTON, March 28.—A larger or more enthusiastic body of prominent Republicans has seldom met at a state convention here than was gathered at Music hall to inaugurate Speaker Reed's candidacy for the presidential nomination and to elect four delegates-at-large and their alternates to attend the national convention at St. Louis in June.

Of 2,002 delegates entitled to a seat in the convention 1,851 were in attendance full of enthusiasm for Hon. Thomas B. Reed as candidate for president of the United States. Every delegate had in his buttonhole a Reed button, bearing a picture of the man with a background of the national colors, and every time the name of the Maine statesman was uttered cheers burst from the throats of the vast crowd that filled the convention hall.

The proceedings of the convention were harmonious in a marked degree and the program mapped out by the state committee was adopted with a single exception, that of the election of Dr. S. E. Courtney of Boston, a colored man, to be an alternate. He was nominated from the floor, by Morris C. Aller, a colored delegate from Boston. The speeches were listened to with marked attention, and every point seemed to receive its merited amount of applause or laughter. This was particularly the case while Chairman McCall and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge were delivering their addresses.

The platform pledges the electoral vote of Massachusetts to the candidate chosen at St. Louis; favors the restriction of immigration; opposes appropriation of public money to sectarian schools; advocates a firm foreign policy; expresses sympathy for Cuba, and declares the Monroe doctrine must be upheld. The tariff plank reads:

The government should have an ample revenue with a sufficient surplus over ordinary expenditures to provide for coast defenses, for the navy, and for the constant reduction of the public debt. The present tariff, with its lowered rates and its destructive system of undervaluations, should be replaced by one recently been shown, hostile to all tariff legislation, designed to give protection to our industries and revenue to our treasury. We are entirely opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver; and to any change in the existing gold standard except by international agreement. Each dollar must be kept as good as every other dollar. The credit of the United States must be maintained at the highest point, so that it cannot be questioned anywhere, either at home or abroad. Every promise must be rigidly kept and every obligation redeemable in coin must be paid in gold. We are opposed to the unsound and dangerous system of state banks. We support the national banking system and believe it should be so amended as to give it room for expansion and opportunity to meet the demands of the growing business and population of the country.

The final plank reads:

Massachusetts Republicans have never undertaken to pledge or bind their votes to a national convention. We do not intend to do so now. But we think it fitting to declare our decided preference among the candidates for the Republican nomination to the presidency. We present to the national convention for nomination as president, and we urge all our delegates to give their earnest, united and active support to a fearless leader, tried in many hard conflicts, a man of national reputation of unblemished character, unwavering Republicanism and great abilities—the Honorable Thomas B. Reed of Maine.

The following were elected delegates: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Nahant; W. Murray Crane, Dalton; Eben S. Draper, Hopedale, and Curtis Guild, Jr., Boston. They were chosen by acclamation. The following were elected alternates: Louis C. Southard, Easton; Roland H. Boutwell, Boston; R. F. Hawkins, Springfield, and S. E. Courtney, Boston.

THE SOUTH FOR REED.

Baltimore American Comes Out For Him In Its Issue Today.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—The Baltimore American, of which General Felix Agnus is editor, in today's issue announces its advocacy of the nomination of Speaker Reed for the presidency. In its leading editorial, The American reverts to the Republican convention in Massachusetts and adds:

"The convention was the formal beginning of the Reed campaign. The sentiment in Maryland is for him without the shadow of a doubt, and when the time comes, the south will rise spontaneously to his name."

It also endorses the Massachusetts platform and says in conclusion: "On such a platform and with such a candidate the party would carry the country by a magnificent majority."

A recent poll of the Republicans in the Maryland legislature showed a considerable majority for Reed.

Minnesota Now Solid.

RUSHFORD, Minn., March 28.—The First district Republican convention elected delegates who are for McKinley, and the Minnesota delegate is now solid for the Ohio candidate. The resolutions are for McKinley and sound money.

A Hot Fight Expected.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

No Important Change In General Condition of Business.

NEW YORK, March 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says: No important change has occurred in the general condition of business during the week and if trades in some respects look worse, in other respects, they look better. Some failures of magnitude have occurred, which have caused much apprehension and unwillingness to lend among bankers and there have been somewhat less favorable features in the drygoods market, but in iron and steel conditions are slightly improved and in boots and shoes considerably more hopeful.

The labor controversies, mainly in the clothing trade, still cause much interruption of that business. Foreign trade is a little more satisfactory, exports from New York for three weeks showing an increase over last year of 6 per cent, while importers have shown nearly the same rate of decrease, and there are not wanting signs that the domestic markets have been somewhat over-loaded with many kinds of foreign goods. In general, the course of domestic prices tends to favor the marketing of staples abroad.

Wheat has gained also about a point, but corn and cotton remain unchanged. Receipts of wheat at western ports continue surprisingly large.

The sales of wool have fallen to less than half a week's full consumption. A striking feature this week has been a sale of 350,000 pounds of American wool for shipment to England.

The iron and steel market have disclosed a similar feature, for a little Alabama pig has been sold for export by the Sloss company. The combination of lake ore producers has at last announced its prices for the coming season: $4.00 for first-class Bessemer, $3.30 to $3.75 for Mesabie, and $3.00 for non-Bessemer ores, and it is calculated that with coke at $2 per ton Bessemer pig can be produced at about $12.50 at Pittsburgh, which is now the current price there.

But the slow marketing of finished products is still the main trouble. There has been a little more activity this week and the Carnegie works have sold 10,000 steel rails to Japan, thus securing a noteworthy success, but in the main the market is as inactive and insufficient as it has been.

A heavy failure in Texas will also swell the aggregate.

The failures for the week have been 259 in the United States, against 334 last year, and 39 in Canada, against 42 last year.

FOMENTED BY THE BOERS.

Accused of Causing the Matabele Uprising—Many Whites Killed.

CAPETOWN, March 28.—There are the wildest rumors at Johannesburg that the Boers have fomented the Matabele uprising. Dispatches received from Bulawayo, Matabeleland, indicate that the uprising in that part of the colony is very serious.

An extensive uprising of the natives, it is understood, has taken place, and the revolt may spread to other parts of South Africa. The settlers in Matabeleland are flocking into the towns, which are being placed in a condition of defense. Volunteers are being enrolled everywhere, provisions are being collected, and in short, all the steps necessary are being taken to meet most serious developments.

Reinforcements of mounted police have already been sent to Bulawayo, Inzerse and Gumbo and the Cape Rifles have received orders to prepare for active service. Supplies of ammunition for the Maxim guns are being hurried to Bulawayo, and all the horses of the disturbed territory have been corralled by Colonel Napier, who is in charge of the government forces. The natives are raiding farms and killing white settlers in the Matabele hills district, and rumor has it that over 50 people have been slain.

COLD SHOULDER FOR SPAIN.

Europe Won't Help In Her Trouble With the United States.

MADRID, March 28.—It has leaked out in diplomatic circles here that the Spanish foreign office has been informed by its ambassadors in the principal European courts that Spain is not likely to receive more than platonic sympathy even from the French government in a conflict with the United States.

The Spanish representatives in all the European courts have discovered that it is absolutely absurd to hope that any European government would act in concert to support Spain even by friendly mediation or moral influence.

They have also discovered that both the foreign governments and the whole European public wonder why Spain does not immediately give Cuba and Porto Rico colonial autonomy and self-government, such as England has given to Canada, in order to disarm the secessionists in Cuba and to conciliate American sympathies.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Standard says: Public feeling is running so high against American interference in Cuba that the government will have trouble to control the national anger. The Republicans declare that they will abstain from the general election with a view of washing their hands of responsibility."

CLEVELAND WILL REFUSE.

Paper Now Ready Declaring His Position.

BOSTON, March 28.—Congressman A. S. GEN. BOOTH'S INSULT.

Tore Down a U. S. Flag in Ballington's House.

HERBERT BOOTH'S MEAN PLOT.

He Devised a Scheme to Have Ballington Booth Recalled, Hoping to Succeed Him—Badly Treated in the Publication of a Book.

New York, March 28.—Commander Ballington Booth has requested Rev. J. G. Halliwood, who was his private secretary for over four years, to be present at all the interviews which he has with his sister, Mrs. Booth-Tucker, who comes prepared to make concessions to the head of the new Salvation Army. Commander Booth has decided to meet no ambassador from his father alone. Mr. Halliwood, in his capacity as private secretary, has handled most of the correspondence which led up to the trouble. He is with Commander Booth today, as it is expected that Mrs. Booth-Tucker will lose no time in hunting up her brother and laying before him the general's proposition.

Dr. Halliwood told how the commander and Mrs. Booth prepared for the reception to the general, whom they expected to be their guest for two weeks. He only stayed two days. One of the first things he did on entering the house was to tear down an American flag, which was conspicuous in the decorations in his honor.

Mr. Halliwood says the recall of Commander Booth was the result of a scheme devised by Herbert Booth, who wished to supersede his brother in command in the United States.

Another incident which Mr. Halliwood believes had great weight with the commander in reaching his decision to sever all connection with his father is the trouble which occurred over the "Life of Mrs. General Booth," which was written by Booth-Tucker.

"Ballington," he says, "considers that he was very badly treated by London in this matter. Although he was always regarded as a kind of a favored son, yet in the life itself it was a source of disappointment that there was so little mention made of the work accomplished by him and Mrs. Booth compared with the mention made of other members of the family, notably Bramwell, Herbert and Catherine. Booth-Tucker, at great expense, came over here to negotiate for the publication of the book. The book was published at terms disadvantageous to the army, and the blame was saddled on Ballington. The profits were to go to the general's social scheme, and the fact that there had been no profits has been the real source of the trouble between the general and the commander."

William Phillips Hall, president of the Hall Signal company and a director in several large corporations, has organized a new evangelistic movement. It will be known as the American League of the Grand Army of the Cross, and its leaders will bear military titles.

THE BERMUDA LIKELY SAFE.

Her Being Sunk by a British Cruiser Not Believed.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—On the subject of the alleged sinking of the steamer Bermuda by a British cruiser, John D. Hart of the Hart Steamship company said today: "I do not expect to hear any reliable information regarding the Bermuda until Sunday and then it will be something vastly different from the statement that a British warship has sent her to the bottom."

He added that the vessel had left New York, March 15, ostensibly for Vera Cruz, but with valuable war material for the Cuban insurgents.

Mr. Hart's lawyer thinks there has been a mistake and that the American steamer Volusia, of their company has been sunk. The theory is that she was fired upon by a Spanish cruiser, which mistook her for a filibuster. The Volusia is on her return trip March 12.

She merely carried a general cargo and had no arms whatever. Her crew numbered between 25 and 30, and all are thought to have been lost.

A New Bunko Game.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 28.—A neat bunko game is costing the farmers and country storekeepers in several parts of this state a good deal of money. THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Warner Miller Before the House Committee.

PLAN OF GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Outlined by the New Yorker, in Which He Shows It Would Be a Paying Deal. Criticized the Commission's Report. News of Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The investigation of the Nicaragua canal problem by the house committee on commerce was begun by the appearance of Hon. Warner Miller of New York, the president of the canal company.

M. Miller's idea was that the government should guarantee bonds to the amount of $100,000,000 at 3 per cent, which would necessitate an annual expenditure of $3,000,000 for interest. About $1,000,000 a year would be needed for maintenance and improvements, about the cost of maintaining the Suez canal, and the remainder of the receipts would be put into a sinking fund for paying off the bonded debt. The government, declared Mr. Miller, would pay nothing for the canal under this arrangement and have some $70,000,000 of stock left.

The canal company never had taken any part in legislation, never had advocated any plan for government control, and never had appeared before congressional committees except when called upon. The company had felt that it had a grievance against the government because, after the introduction of the senate bill, it had been impossible to raise any money. American capitalists had said that the government should take charge of the enterprise, and foreign houses had feared that after a few years the government would take possession and return them only the cash they had invested, with no profits.

Mr. Miller dealt with the report of the commission sent to the senate last summer at length. It had been well understood, he declared, that the commission had been in a plan devised by the opponents of the canal for delay. He criticized the engineering attainments of the commission.

The company felt that the time had come when the government either should take the work or give notice to the world that it intended to do nothing so that the promoters would have a clear field to work with other governments or capitalists. If congress decided to drop the project, Mr. Miller said he would turn to American people to invest in the company and if that appeal failed he would turn the work over to someone else and retire defeated.

AN ACrimonious DEBATE.

Hill, Elkins and Brice Have a Hot Time in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The senate has indulged in an acrimonious political debate which developed much personal and party feeling and brought on two sharp personal exchanges between Mr. Hill and Mr. Elkins and between Mr. Brice and Mr. Elkins. The controversy arose over Mr. Hill's motion to strike from the pending appropriation bill the proposed change of the date of assembling the New Mexico legislature from December to May. Mr. Hill bitterly denounced the change as a "political trick" which had been "sneaked into" this appropriation bill, in order, as he claimed, to postpone the meeting of the Democratic legislature in the hope that a Republican president would be elected and the political control of the territory changed. Mr. Elkins protested against the use of the words "sneaked into." The exchange between the senators was very animated, but Mr. Hill persisted in the use of his adjectives. Later Mr. Brice sought to question Mr. Elkins when the latter brought up the offensive personal dispatch which had been sent to Mr. Brice from New Mexico, accusing him of dealing in fraudulent bonds, which charge was afterward withdrawn personally by the governor of New Mexico.

The debate took a wide range. Senators Gorman, Faulkner, Cockrell and other Democrats attacking the provision as political, while Senators Elkins, Carter, Cullum and other Republicans defended it. Mr. Cullum sought to table Mr. Hill's motion, but a motion to this effect failed, 21-29, whereupon Mr. Cullum yielded to the Hill motion, and the New Mexico provision was struck out.

At the close of the day the senate passed the legislative appropriation bill, carrying $21,500,000. Aside from providing the usual appropriations the bill is important in effecting a reform of the system of compensation for United States district attorneys and marshals, salaries being substituted for fees.

The Session of the House.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The house appropriation committee attempted to take up the sundry civil appropriations, but the members who were interested in bills on the private calendar defeated them by a vote of 142 to 77. It developed during the day that a lively fight would be precipitated Monday when the sundry civil bill is called up on account of the fact that the bill carries appropriations for continuing contracts on river and harbor work and public buildings for only eight months of the next fiscal year.

GEN. BOOTH'S INSULT.

Tore Down a U. S. Flag In
Ballington's House.

HERBERT BOOTH'S MEAN PLOT.

He Devised a Scheme to Have Ballington Booth Recalled, Hoping to Succeed Him—Badly Treated in the Publication of a Book.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Commander Ballington Booth has requested Rev. J. G. Halliwell, who was his private secretary for over four years, to be present at all the interviews which he has with his sister, Mrs. Booth-Tucker, who comes prepared to make concessions to the head of the new Salvation Army. Commander Booth has decided to meet no ambassador from his father alone. Mr. Halliwell, in his capacity as private secretary, has handled most of the correspondence which led up to the trouble. He is with Commander Booth today, as it is expected that Mrs. Booth-Tucker will lose no time in hunting up her brother and laying before him the general's proposition.

Dr. Halliwell told how the commander and Mrs. Booth prepared for the reception to the general, whom they expected to be their guest for two weeks. He only stayed two days. One of the first things he did on entering the house was to tear down an American flag, which was conspicuous in the decorations in his honor.

Mr. Halliwell says the recall of Commander Booth was the result of a scheme devised by Herbert Booth, who wished to supersede his brother in command in the United States.

Another incident which Mr. Halliwell believes had great weight with the commander in reaching his decision to sever all connection with his father is the trouble which occurred over the "Life of Mrs. General Booth," which was written by Booth-Tucker.

"Ballington," he says, "considers that he was very badly treated by London in this matter. Although he was always regarded as a kind of a favored son, yet in the life itself it was a source of disappointment that there was so little mention made of the work accomplished by him and Mrs. Booth compared with the mention made of other members of the family, notably Bramwell, Herbert and Catherine. Booth-Tucker, at great expense, came over here to negotiate for the publication of the book. The book was published at terms disadvantageous to the army, and the blame was saddled on Ballington. The profits were to go to the general's social scheme, and the fact that there had been no profits has been the real source of the trouble between the general and the commander."

William Phillips Hall, president of the Hall Signal company and a director in several large corporations, has organized a new evangelistic movement. It will be known as the American League of the Grand Army of the Cross, and its leaders will bear military titles.

THE BERMUDA LIKELY SAFE.

Her Being Sunk by a British Cruiser Not Believed.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—On the subject of the alleged sinking of the steamer Bermuda by a British cruiser, John D. Hart of the Hart Steamship company said today: "I do not expect to hear any reliable information regarding the Bermuda until Sunday and then it will be something vastly different from the statement that a British warship has sent her to the bottom."

He added that the vessel had left New York, March 15, ostensibly for Vera Cruz, but with valuable war material for the Cuban insurgents.

Mr. Hart's lawyer thinks there has been a mistake and that the American steamer Volusia, of their company has been sunk. The theory is that she was fired upon by a Spanish cruiser, which mistook her for a filibuster. The Volusia is long overdue, having left Jamaica on her return trip March 12.

She merely carried a general cargo and had no arms whatever. Her crew numbered between 25 and 30, and all are thought to have been lost.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 28.—A neat bunko game is costing the farmers and country storekeepers in several parts of this state a good deal of money. He warns his victims that they are liable to arrest for having counterfeit money in their possession.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Warner Miller Before the House Committee.

PLAN OF GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Outlined by the New Yorker, in Which He Shows It Would Be a Paying Deal. Criticized the Commission's Report. News of Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The investigation of the Nicaragua canal problem by the house committee on commerce was begun by the appearance of Hon. Warner Miller of New York, the president of the canal company.

M. Miller's idea was that the government should guarantee bonds to the amount of $100,000,000 at 3 per cent, which would necessitate an annual expenditure of $3,000,000 for interest. About $1,000,000 a year would be needed for maintenance and improvements, about the cost of maintaining the Suez canal, and the remainder of the receipts would be put into a sinking fund for paying off the bonded debt. The government, declared Mr. Miller, would pay nothing for the canal under this arrangement and have some $70,000,000 of stock left.

The canal company never had taken any part in legislation, never had advocated any plan for government control, and never had appeared before congressional committees except when called upon. The company had felt that it had a grievance against the government because, after the introduction of the senate bill, it had been impossible to raise any money. American capitalists had said that the government should take charge of the enterprise, and foreign houses had feared that after a few years the government would take possession and return them only the cash they had invested, with no profits.

Mr. Miller dealt with the report of the commission sent to the isthmus last summer at length. It had been well understood, he declared, that the commission had been in a plan devised by the opponents of the canal for delay. He criticized the engineering attainments of the commission.

The company felt that the time had come when the government either should take the work or give notice to the world that it intended to do nothing so that the promoters would have a clear field to work with other governments or capitalists. If congress decided to drop the project Mr. Miller said he would turn American people over to the company and if that appeal failed he would turn the work over to someone else and retire defeated.

AN ACrimonious DEBATE.

Hill, Elkins and Brice Have a Hot Time In the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The senate has indulged in an acrimonious political debate which developed much personal and party feeling and brought on two sharp personal exchanges between Mr. Hill and Mr. Elkins and between Mr. Brice and Mr. Elkins. The controversy arose over Mr. Hill's motion to strike from the pending appropriation bill the proposed change of the date of assembling the New Mexico legislature from December to May. Mr. Hill bitterly denounced the change as a "political trick" which had been "sneaked into" this appropriation bill, in order, as he claimed, to postpone the meeting of the Democratic legislature in the hope that a Republican president would be elected and the political control of the territory changed. Mr. Elkins protested against the use of the words "sneaked in." The exchange between the senators was very animated, but Mr. Hill persisted in the use of his adjectives. Later Mr. Brice sought to question Mr. Elkins when the latter brought up the offensive personal dispute which had been sent to Mr. Brice from New Mexico, accusing him of dealing in fraudulent bonds, which charge was afterward withdrawn personally by the governor of New Mexico.

The debate took a wide range. Senators Gorman, Faulkner, Cockrell and other Democrats attacking the provision as political, while Senators Elkins, Carter, Cullom and other Republican senators defended it. Mr. Cullom sought to table Mr. Hill's motion, but a motion to this effect failed, 21-29, whereupon Mr. Cullom yielded to the Hill motion, and the New Mexico provision was struck out.

At the close of the day the senate passed the legislative appropriation bill, carrying $21,500,000. Aside from providing the usual appropriations the bill is important in effecting a reform of the system of compensation for United States district attorneys and marshals, salaries being substituted for fees.

The Session of the House.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The house appropriation committee attempted to take up the sundry civil appropriations, but the members who were interested in bills on the private calendar defeated them by a vote of 142 to 77. It developed during the day that a lively fight would be precipitated Monday when the sundry civil bill is called up on account of the fact that the bill carries appropriations for continuing contracts on river and harbor work and public buildings for only eight months of the next fiscal year.

To Increase the Pensioners.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The house committee on invalid pensions has reported favorably Representative Crowther's bill extending the benefits of the pension laws to all the militia engaged in the Civil war who served 90 days under the direct authority of the war department or United States officers. From 12,000 to 15,000 names would be added to the pension rolls.

Indian Reservation to Be Opened.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The president today issued a proclamation opening the Red Lake Indian reservation in Minnesota to settlement. The date selected is May 1.

Condition of the Gold Reserve.

The Cows in the Mortgage.

There is a man in Taylor county who knows how to mortgage cows. The Montezuma Record knows this man and vouches for him. The man is a farmer, and recently a collector called on him for the payment of a note secured by chattel mortgage.

The farmer was obtuse and gave no satisfaction that he would ever pay the note. Finally the collector said:

"Well, I'll have to take the 11 cows named in the mortgage."

"Oh, no, you haven't got a mortgage on 11 cows on this farm."

"Why, yes, I have." And the collector pulled out a copy of the mortgage and read as follows:

"One red and white cow, one cow spotted red and white, one red cow with white spots, one cow with white spots in forehead, one red cow with two white hind feet, one white cow with red spots on side, one white and red cow, one red cow with two white fore feet, one white cow with red spot on shoulders, one red cow with white spots on hips, one white cow spotted with red." Now, how do you like that?" continued the collector.

"Oh, that's all right. I see you've got 11 mortgages on my old red and white cow. There she is down in the pasture. The boys will go down and help you catch her!"—Atlanta Constitution.

WOOLLEY.

He Will Delight the Hearts of His Hearers.

The matchless and consecrated Woolley is sacrificing himself for Christ and humanity. He devotes his income—which is not one-fourth that received by men of much less ability and reputation—to charity, only reserving sufficient to support his family. Your society receives credit for what you do. See your representative at once. Delay is dangerous.

A Clover Comedian.

"The Broom-maker," by James Reilly and his company at the Opera House, served to introduce to local theatre-goers a comedian in the person of Mr. Reilly, who is superior in many respects to the German dialect comedians now before the public, and who is destined to attain the same popularity enjoyed by J. K. Emmett in his prime. As a singer, there is now no German dialect comedian on the stage who is his equal. His voice is strong and resonant, and he can electrify an audience by his yodling. —Binghamton, N. Y., Republican. At the Grand Monday, March 30.

Wanted to Bet.

Two well known citizens became involved in an argument on a Biblical question this morning. One argued that the Bible contained a passage of scripture which said: "Through the foolishness of preaching, many could be saved." The other maintained that the Scriptures did not contain such a phrase. The discussion waxed hotter, and finally one said he would back up his opinion with money. This was dropped soon, however, as they considered it sacrilegious to bet on such a question.

Born

To Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McGlashan, McKinnon addition, a son.

If a man knew he was going to be hanged, he would certainly make every effort to prevent it. He would do everything he could and strain every nerve to the last minute to get himself out of his predicament. Men have been saved from hanging after the rope was around their necks. There are ways of dying that are not so quick that are even more certain. The man who neglects his health, and who in sickness refuses to take medicine, really has the rope of disease around his neck. He will die if he doesn't throw it off. A man who would struggle against hanging may yet be careless about his health. He may be traveling straight toward consumption and pay no attention to it, and yet death by consumption is much more terrible than death by hanging. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is likely to be caused by weakness and in its turn, it increases the weakness. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is an invigorating, strength-giving and flesh-making medicine. It increases the appetite, puts the digestive organs in perfect order, purifies and enriches the blood, and builds up firm, healthy flesh.

In one chapter of Dr. Pierce's great thousand page family doctor book—"The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," are scores of letters from people who have been cured of consumption, lingering coughs, throat and bronchial diseases by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery." Their full names and addresses are given and their cases were generally pronounced hopeless by the local doctors. Twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps, to pay for mailing only, will secure a free copy of this great book. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

De Tabley and His Books.

The side on which I was most capable of appreciating Lord de Tabley's gifts as a collector was the bibliographical. If I am anything of a connoisseur in this direction, I owe it to his training. His zeal in the amassing of early editions of the English poets was extreme; he was one of those who think nothing of hanging about a bookshop at 6 o'clock in the morning waiting for the shutters to be taken down. But his zeal was eminently according to knowledge. He valued his first edition for the text's sake, not for the bare fact of rarity. Every book he bought he read, and with a critical gusto. A little anecdote may illustrate his spirit as a collector. In 1877 he secured, by a happy accident, a copy of Milton's "Poems" of 1645, a book which he had never met with before. Too eager to wait for the post, he sent a messenger round to my house with a note to announce not merely the joyful fact, but this is the interesting point—a discovery he had made in the volume—namely, that the line in the "Nativity Ode," which in all later editions has run—
Orb'd in a rainbow, and like glories wearing, originally stood—
"which," as he said, "is a grand mouthful of sound and ever so much better than the weak 'like glories.'"—Contemporary Review.

Survival of a French Word in Scotland.
While speaking to a respectable housewife near Dunfermline, some 30 years ago, as to the merits of a clergyman in the neighborhood, she informed me that he was said to be the best preacher "in a' the room." A cautious cross examination elicited the fact that "the room" certainly did not include the Lothians, and did not extend so far as Sterling. I came to the conclusion that the word "room" was a corrupt form of the French "royaume," the kingdom of France.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Eid Them Goodbye.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

LOVE AND ROSES.

A wild rose drank of the morning dew.
A wild rose smiled at the morning sun.
A wild rose dreamed the warm day through.
A wild rose died when the day was done.

And ever the rose was fair, was sweet,
And ever the rose was shy.
But a rose's life, like a dream, is fleet,
And a rose in a day will die.

It fell on a day that love once grew
In the loam of the heart like a rose,
Like a rose it smiled in the morning dew,
Like a rose it died at the sweet day's close.

And ever the love was fair, was sweet,
And ever the love was shy,
But the life of love, like a rose, is fleet,
And a love in a day will die.
—John N. Hilliard in Vanity.

SOME SIGNS OF APPROACHING AGE

How a Man Showed That He Was Growing Old Without Knowing It.

A man, apparently slightly past middle life, whose hair was tinged with gray and noticeably thin on top, sat near me at a theater. As the curtain rose for the first time a spectacled man of about the same age entered and occupied the vacant seat between us. He looked at the other fixedly. The look was exchanged, and in a second each had the other cordially by the hand. The conversation told that they had been school mates who had not met in many years. "By Jove, Charlie," exclaimed the first, "it does me good to see you. You haven't changed much more than I have, and I am not a day older than when we got our diplomas."

"I can't quite agree with you, Tom," answered the other, "but I don't feel very old yet. I see you still enjoy the theater, and I suppose you have kept up your literary tastes for the past 35 years."

"Thirty years!" repeated Tom. "How the years fly! Do you remember how they used to drag? Theaters! Well, I do go now and then, but the plays and acting are not what they used to be. As to books, I still read them, but none of the modern trash. There hasn't been a good book written for a quarter of a century. The new ones give me the dyspepsia worse than what I eat. Do you remember the meals we had on the old Vermont farm? Those were happy days. Thirty years and more ago! Strange, but I don't show a sign of age. I wonder where this confounded draft is coming from. I feel neuralgia on top of my head now."

"Tom, old boy," replied the other, "you are deceiving yourself, for you have shown marked signs of approaching age within three minutes. Your belief that theaters and actors have degenerated, that new books are below the standard, that childhood cooking was perfection and that time flies so very fast are all indications that you are on the down hill side of life. The slight draft that you say brings a tinge of neuralgia to the top of your head, where, I notice, the hair is rather thin, wouldn't have been thought of 30 years ago. Then here you are in the very front seat of a theater. No use denying the signs, Tom. We are getting along and must admit what others plainly see."—New York Herald.

Material For Cavalry.

While the United States does not boast of a large standing army, the few regiments of cavalry which have seen service on the plains will not only compare favorably with the mounted men of other nations, but for the particular kind of work to which they have been trained they are without equals in the world. We have had no reason to keep them in training, but if put to the test we could certainly raise a magnificent army in a very short time. Unlike the early days of the recent rebellion, we would have plenty of horsemen to call upon.

Whereas, in earlier days, equestrianism was unknown, comparatively speaking, it has in later days become so general as a means of exercise, recreation and health that old and young are fairly good riders. The various sports of polo, hunting and racing have served to stimulate interest in equestrianism. The military troops formed throughout the country are also factors.

All of these sources would be drawn upon for officers rather than for private soldiers. They do not represent a large number in comparison with the force necessary to cope with a foe, but they would certainly prove a valuable nucleus on which to build.—Rider and Driver.

WOOLLEY.

He Will Delight the Hearts of His Hearers.

The matchless and consecrated Woolley is sacrificing himself for Christ and humanity. He devotes his income—which is not one-fourth that received by men of much less ability and reputation—to charity, only reserving sufficient to support his family. Your support not only means a great benefit to you at much less than usual cost, but some benefit to charity and local organizations which stand for all that is good and true. Your society receives credit for what you do. See your representative at once. Delay is dangerous.

A Clever Comedian.

"The Broom-maker," by James Reilly and his company at the Opera House, served to introduce to local theatre-goers a comedian in the person of Mr. Reilly, who is superior in many respects to the German dialect comedians now before the public, and who is destined to attain the same popularity enjoyed by J. K. Emmett in his prime. As a singer, there is now no German dialect comedian on the stage who is his equal. His voice is strong and resonant, and he can electrify an audience by his yodling. —Binghamton, N. Y., Republican. At the Grand Monday, March 30.

Wanted to Bet.

Two well known citizens became involved in an argument on a Biblical question this morning. One argued that the Bible contained a passage of scripture which said: "Through the foolishness of preaching, many could be saved." The other maintained that the Scriptures did not contain such a phrase. The discussion waxed hotter, and finally one said he would back up his opinion with money. This was dropped soon, however, as they considered it sacrilegious to bet on such a question.

Trustee Lloyd arrived home today, having bid goodbye to the Huber family and Tommy Humphreys in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon. He says they were all in the best of spirits, and seemed to realize that a brighter future is in store for them.

Sent Him Flowers.

The shop mates of Ted Davies, of Washington street, who has been confined to his home with illness for some time, presented him with a handsome bouquet of flowers today. His brother, Frank, of Jamestown, Pa., is at the sick man's side.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

LOVE AND ROSES.

A wild rose drank of the morning dew,
A wild rose smiled at the morning sun,
A wild rose dreamed the warm day through,
A wild rose died when the day was done.

And ever the rose was fair, was sweet,
And ever the rose was shy,
But a rose's life, like a dream, is fleet,
And a rose in a day will die.

It fell on a day that love once grew
In the loam of the heart like a rose,
Like a rose it smiled in the morning dew,
Like a rose it died at the sweet day's close.

And ever the love was fair, was sweet,
And ever the love was shy,
But the life of love, like a rose, is fleet,
And a love in a day will die.

—John N. Hillard in Vanity.

SOME SIGNS OF APPROACHING AGE

How a Man Showed That He Was Growing Old Without Knowing It.

A man, apparently slightly past middle life, whose hair was tinged with gray and noticeably thin on top, sat near me at a theater. As the curtain rose for the first time a spectacled man of about the same age entered and occupied the vacant seat between us. He looked at the other fixedly. The look was exchanged, and in a second each had the other cordially by the hand. The conversation told that they had been school mates who had not met in many years.

"By Jove, Charlie," exclaimed the first, "it does me good to see you. You haven't changed much more than I have, and I am not a day older than when we got our diplomas."

"I can't quite agree with you, Tom," answered the other, "but I don't feel very old yet. I see you still enjoy the theater, and I suppose you have kept up your literary tastes for the past 30 years."

"Thirty years!" repeated Tom. "How the years fly! Do you remember how they used to drag? Theaters! Well, I do go now and then, but the plays and acting are not what they used to be. As to books, I still read them, but none of the modern trash. There hasn't been a good book written for a quarter of a century. The new ones give me the dyspepsia worse than what I eat. Do you remember the meals we had on the old Vermont farm? Those were happy days. Thirty years and more ago! Strange, but I don't show a sign of age. I wonder where this confounded draft is coming from. I feel neuralgia on top of my head now."

"Tom, old boy," replied the other, "you are deceiving yourself, for you have shown marked signs of approaching age within three minutes. Your belief that theaters and actors have degenerated, that new books are below the standard, that childhood cooking was perfection and that time flies so very fast are all indications that you are on the down hill side of life. The slight draft that you say brings a tinge of neuralgia to the top of your head, where, I notice, the hair is rather thin, wouldn't have been thought of 30 years ago. Then here you are in the very front seat of a theater. No use denying the signs, Tom. We are getting along and must admit what others plainly see."—New York Herald.

Material For Cavalry.

While the United States does not boast of a large standing army, the few regiments of cavalry which have seen service on the plains will not only compare favorably with the mounted men of other nations, but for the particular kind of work to which they have been trained they are without equals in the world. We have had no reason to keep them in training, but if put to the test we could certainly raise a magnificent army in a very short time. Unlike the early days of the recent rebellion, we would have plenty of horsemen to call upon.

Whereas, in earlier days, equestrianism was unknown, comparatively speaking, it has in later days become so general as a means of exercise, recreation and health that old and young are fairly good riders. The various sports of polo, hunting and racing have served to stimulate interest in equestrianism. The military troops formed throughout the country are also factors.

All of these sources would be drawn upon for officers rather than for private soldiers. They do not represent a large number in comparison with the force necessary to cope with a foe, but they would certainly prove a valuable nucleus on which to build.—Rider and Driver.
